Red faces in Mumbai police over ‘Pak terrorist’ claims

Delhi HC sniffs scam in farm ministry, orders FIR

The trio, who the Mumbai police claimed had sneaked into India, showed up at a shopping complex in Lahore.

Gulberg CP Altaf Ansari told DawnNews that the matter would be forwarded to the cyber-crime wing of the Federal Investigation Agency on Thursday, when he reached Lahore after being arrested by the police.

The tripod carrying the camera wore a small red band on the strap, and the lengths of the legs were extended to make it appear longer, he said.

"The entire incident is a concocted one, designed to embarrass the government," Banerjee said on Thursday.

She claimed that the camera had been used to subvert the law by recording on the woman’s private parts.

"It is a fraud, a concocted one, designed to embarrass the government," Banerjee said. "We have to ensure that such incidents do not recur."
