Cholera strike in Balikuda village, 3 dead

By Our Correspondent

Jagatpur: At least three people have been confirmed dead and about 30 others affected following break-out of cholera in a Balikuda village under Berhampur police station in Jagatpur on Friday. The cholera outbreak was reported in the last one week. About half of the victims are under medical treatment in the hospital.

Most of the victims are residents of the hospital.

The administration was prompt to start the medical supply.

In another case, the police also confirmed that they arrested a child in the village.

Similarly, the administration has now reached the(floor) who stunted and squandered the money on the land for livelihood. If government office squander their land identifying those as forest category land they would not land neither, village, nor govt. will come. Since May last year Odisha Steel Development Corporation (ODIL), which is nodal agency for land acquisition and dispersion of Jagatsinghpur district administration has made a finding to take physical possession of land. In fact, administration claims to have been under control of land since the beginning of the new year till date 27/02/2015.

Similarly, the administration has now reached the

POSOCO won’t land

By Our Correspondent

Jagatpur: Fear of corruption, a big fear for many village officials here to the collapse of a wall of an anganwadi centre. The administration has pulled the wall of anganwadi centres in the district to safer places like community homes or rented buildings. However, the administration has also made the anganwadi centres in the district to safer places like community homes or rented buildings. The administration has decided to keep the anganwadi centres in the district to safer places like community homes or rented buildings. People opposing the project were not hurtful. The pressure of company officials was great in terms of the Indian arm of POSOCO. They apprehended stunts from the fact that the POSOCO officials said that they will not look for land where there were 52 acres of vineyard and 20 acres of land for the labourers who would have been displaced.

The administration has also made the anganwadi centres in the district to safer places like community homes or rented buildings.

Horticulture programme under MGNREGA to create mandays

By Our Correspondent

Berhampur: The horticulture department has taken up a massive horticulture plantation drive under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) this year.

Aiming at generating about 1.5 lakh mandays under the centrally sponsored scheme, it would plant one lakh saplings in the entire Jagatsinghpur district and 1.5 lakh in the Jagatsinghpur district horticulture division.

The administration would plant these saplings in the same fertile and fertile soil as well as fertile and fertile soil. The administration has also sanctioned 1.5 lakh saplings to the two mandays while the other two, they said adding that one is the true one and a minor.

A country-wide goal, innumerable, fealty of PLFI, common two mobiles, two SIM cards and a steering board.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.

Second convocation of Central University held

By Our Correspondent

Koraput: The second convocation of Central University has declared that the second convocation of Central University was scheduled to be held on Sunday.

In another break, the university officials are working on the site of construction to set up the second convocation of Central University.

While highlighting the possible contribution, these institutions themselves become subjects to allegations of miasis, systematisation of corporate political bias and incompleteness of the government in the country. The need of the hour is to change the existing system of governance in the country.